Welcome to the short course on ‘Overview of Oilfield Geomechanics’.

I am pleased to teach this course as part of GEO INDIA 2022, a major Geoscience gathering in India after the COVID19 pandemic.

In this short course, we will be touching various aspects of Geomechanics that applies mainly to Drilling of oil & gas wells, and also touches completions, fracturing, G&G and reservoir development.

Considering its diverse nature of the course, a comprehensive course material with notes is being provided to the participants for the sake of your subsequent revision and understanding. While all material cannot be covered in the 1 day course, provision of this material for your post-course revision and review can help comprehend your understanding and firm up the knowledge.

Have a pleasant stay at Geo India 2022.
